Restaurant Review

Authentic Charm

Eating at East India Company is like taking a step into ancient India. Filled with authentic Indian artifacts, this restaurant not only provides a mouth watering culinary experience but a cultural experience as well. It is easy to see why East India Company's founding restaurant was listed in the top forty-one places to dine in Where to Eat In Canada; this restaurant has an authentic charm, and the attention to detail of a family-run business.

A Step into Ancient India

The artifacts displayed in the restaurant are anywhere from one hundred to four hundred years old. Arrive early and admire the beautiful interior décor. If you're lucky, you may even get a guided tour with the manager, Anish Mehra. Mr. Mehra can tell you a story about each and every piece from the elephant headed statue of Ganish that greets you as you walk in the door to the teak chairs that were once housed in a South Indian palace!

Affordable Luxury

Visit East India Company for a very reasonably priced lunch buffet (Monday through Friday), or treat yourself to the linen service of a Sunday brunch and try the delicious South Indian "dosas," which are like thin crepes with generous filling. If you prefer dinner, a buffet is available along with the regular menu every night. The buffet will allow you to sample all kinds of delicious cuisine!

The East India Company has a very innovative style. The menu changes daily to suit the different theme nights during the week. The week begins on Sunday with the dosas, and moves on to the chef's choice on Mondays, and vegetarian night on Tuesdays. (Don't worry, all you carnivores, since there are always a few meat dishes on the menu!) The Wednesday night menu features fusion cooking. On Thursday nights, you will be treated to an old family recipe created by the manager's grandparents when they first opened their restaurant thirty-five years ago - a shrimp curry appetizer. Friday nights it's seafood with three different sorts of fish dishes available. The week wraps up with tandoori nights on Saturday, when you can take advantage of the full flavour of food cooked in a traditional clay oven!

To finish the evening try an Indian King Fisher or Tajmahal beer. Or for a non alcoholic treat, ask for a "lassie."
